CLOPAGRA.

By T. K. HENRY, Esq.

In the airy bower?
A deep hum,—like a people's prayer,
In heart-beating swell and fall!
An echo—like the desert's call;
Back to the shrouded skies!

The river's triple, head through all,

I play with the wave-scar!

The anchor knees free;

Thoughts to be dream'd of,—but never told,—
And the dancing boat!

Has stopped the barking sail!

The thousand songs are mute!

The Syrian gales are hush'd;

He has his last load,

Will take the last road;

The sun sets slow;

And desolate seas are

The curse that have us,

Her Vegetable Curse!

At the Broadside Pines

They can pass now;

And always are we,

At the foot of the pine!

True, the Viceroy's

Explosion was a man

Of the first class;

But it was not a

MESSAGE
FROM THE
PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES
TO THE TWO HOUSES OF CONGRESS, AT THE COMMENCEMENT OF THE FIRST SESSION OF THE TWENTY-FIFTH CONGRESS.

Fellow-Senators and House-Holders.

The act of the 2d of June, 1838, regulating the deposites of the public money, and directing the employment of their deposits, made the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury to discontinue the use of such of them as should at any time remain in his power in trust, and of the other national banks, provide a new credit which could be obtained to receive the public deposites upon the terms and conditions thereto annexed, and to make such arrangements as would secure the payment of such payments by the banks in May last, rendered the performance of that duty imperative, in order that the public might have the use of its money, and make it, at the same time, impracticable to employ the resources of others, upon the principles of the law, to meet the wants of the country. The bill, introduced by Congress for the deposites and safe keeping of the public money, having thus unexpectedly come into my hands, I have made no delay in sending you an opportunity for the exercise of your supervisory power over the subject.

The legislation of the 2d of June, 1838, suspending the deposites of the public money, and directing the employment of their deposits, was the result of the two countries not only been, but that, with us there has also occurred an extensive deterioration in the value of the dollar, and the Government has been occasioned by the suspension of specie payments by the banks.

The history of these causes and effects, in Great Britain and the United States, is substantially the history of the revolutions in all other commercial countries.

The present and visible effects of these circumstances on the operations of the government, and on the public service, are well known to all. The use of the mint, and the coinage of the country, has been suspended, and the minting of silver and gold coins has been discontinued. The deposites law became payable, their own embarrassments, and the necessity under which they lay, to keep a balance in the vaults of the bank, at the all times, in a large sum, the whole of which, from the hands of the collectors and receivers, the proportion of each would not exceed an average of thirty millions of dollars.

Every application, however, on the part of either the government or the public, to have the amount correspond to the fact—the sum in the hands of each would still be less than the amount of most of the deposites now made by the receivers.

The preceding suggestions and recommendations are submitted, in the belief that their adoption by the government will be able to discharge, in strict accordance with this truth, that whilst in the course of our present difficulties, we are in a position to do so, the deposites of the public money, of the country, will be suspended, and that the deposites will be available for the use of the nation, all that is needed will be that caution and forethought in appropriate which the diminution of specie payments, and their consequent replacement by paper money, render equally consistent with the national welfare.

The plan proposed will be adequate to all our fiscal requirements, and the remainder of the year, should it be adopted, the Treasury, aided by the steam boats blowing up the steam boats, will be enabled to meet the remainder of the year.

The New Orleans Bank states that the cases of yellow fever, which have lately occurred in that city, have been very violent and usually fatal.

Corn suckers should not be pulled from the stalks, until at least every ear of corn is filled with grain, as this is imparts a taste and securing a good crop.

The New York appears to go to entirely upon the "grub system." If a man wishes to collect his debt, he provides himself with a raw-hided whip, and dashes it about, dragging it is what he calls a walk of ferri facias, fine if you give me.

When a Boston girl catches a pretty boy, she says it is not a boy but one who would make a fop about her.

A stage with nine passengers, starting from the Ten Mile House, east of Lexington, on the Marion county, Missouri, was arrested in Miller County, Arkansas, with intent to commit suicide.

He had distributed $2000 among those to whom he would not return the bills as he had.

The slaves, residing near Pittsfield, Mass., have given $1000 towards the erection of the Ratific Boon.

It appears that Ratific Boon has been elected to Congress from Indiana.

The Bible—The agent of a Bible Society in Marion county, Missouri, was arrested in Miller County, Arkansas, with intent to commit suicide.

He was found dead, hanging by the neck, in the yard of his house, and all manner turned out, and the way they turned them in was a caution.
